The first edition of the fair specialized in quality mid century design

Press release

The first edition of the Salon du design, that will be held on 18-19 November 2017 at the Pavillon Sicli in Geneva, aims to become THE reference in French-speaking Switzerland for the most demanding collectors and vintage design enthusiasts. In fact, the fair primarily favours physical points of sale as well as professional dealers. Expert in 20th century design, they guarantee a great shopping experience.

Designed by Heinz Isler in the 1960s, the Sicli Pavilion provides a modernist setting of 1,000sqm to the most beautiful creations, furniture, lighting and accessories of the 20th century.

The fair offers the unique opportunity to visit some of the best showrooms and galleries in Switzerland and Europe, all gathered during a weekend in the exceptional architecture of the Pavillon Sicli.

From Gio Ponti to Ettore Sottsass, including Charlotte Perriand, Max Bill, Charles & Ray Eames, Alvar Aalto, Le Corbusier, Pierre Guariche and many others, the works of the greatest designers and architects of the last century will be presented in their original editions. A not to be missed occasion to purchase collector's items, but also more accessible design icons or pieces by historical manufacturers.
